

Back to the Farm For Walter Reed Boys

Photos by International Film Service.

Wounded soldiers from Walter Reed Hospital spending a day at Bellview farm, near Hyattsville, Md. They termed it "A Day Among the Cows and Chickens."

With special care chickens can be trained to do almost anything. In this instance they are fondled by their greatest enemy.

Finding out where the milk comes from.

"Old Bossy" shows a special liking for wounded heroes.

Inspecting the "chick division" of Bellview. The raising of poultry may become quite an industry with some of the crippled boys.
